Introduction

Athabasca University, Canada's Open University™, is the premier distance education university in Canada and is recognized as one of the world's leading open and distance learning universities. The credibility of this claim rests not only on the uncompromisingly high quality of instruction and services the university offers to its students, but also on the quality of the research and scholarly output of individual faculty members and their respective academic centres.

Athabasca University is committed to excellence in teaching, research and scholarship. This commitment is demonstrated in the contributions of faculty and professional staff to disciplinary journals, in books authored and edited, in papers presented at learned societies and colloquia, in external research grants awarded, and internally-funded research activities.

This edition of Staff Publications and Research Grants, the thirteenth since the creation of the University in 1971, demonstrates the commitment of Athabasca University staff to excellence in research and scholarship. It provides a summary of the research and scholarly achievements of academic, professional and tutorial staff at Athabasca University between April 1, 2001 and March 31, 2002. It is intended to serve as a source document in responding to specific inquiries about the publications produced and research undertaken at Athabasca University.
