

Fees, refunds, and financial assistance

The following course tuition fees are effective for students registering in courses from Sep. 1, 2026 to Aug. 31, 2027.

Course fees are all-inclusive, and are calculated by combining the tuition fee, course administration and technology fee, and Students' Union and Alumni Relations fees. If applicable, the course materials fee and the out of country fee or the out of province fee, may also be charged.

If you formally withdraw from your course, and you are eligible for a refund, you must follow the regulations in the following sections that apply to you.

Fee summary

The following course tuition fees are effective for students registering in courses from Sep. 1, 2026 to Aug. 31, 2027.

Course fees are all-inclusive, and are calculated by combining the tuition fee, course administration and technology fee, and Students' Union and Alumni Relations fees. If applicable, the course materials fee and the out-of-country fee or the out-of-province fee, may also be charged. Academic-related fees are exempt from the federal Goods and Services Tax (G.S.T.). Other goods are not G.S.T. exempt. Fees are listed and payable in Canadian dollars.

The payment of student fees entitles you to receive most learning resources and other support services (including tutorial assistance where provided) for the period of active registration.

Students attending Athabasca University grouped study courses at collaborating institutions may be assessed tuition and fees that vary from those established within this Calendar. Those students should contact an academic advisor or the Office of the Registrar at the collaborating institution.

Students are responsible for any expenses incurred when writing an examination. Most invigilators request a fee to invigilate examinations. Invigilation centers may also charge a fee if you cancel or reschedule your examination.

Effective dates

The following fee schedule applies to students who are registering in courses that have a September 1, 2026 or later start date, unless otherwise stated.

Returning students

If you are a returning Athabasca University student, please log in to myAU. If you are no longer an active student, you may still log in to myAU and follow the reactivation procedure.

Once you have logged in to myAU, you may register in a course and view personal information, such as your AU Library account, and your assignment marks, and course grades. You may also take care of administrative matters, such as booking examinations, submitting assignments, and requesting extensions or course withdrawals.

Athabasca University will also communicate directly with you through myAU. Check the Message Centre on your myAU home page for general information and for messages addressed to you.

General Application form and fee for new students

When first seeking admission to Athabasca University, all students submit a one-time, non-refundable application fee with their completed Undergraduate General Application.

The application fee is non-refundable and payable only once regardless of whether your requested start date is unavailable or if you choose not to register in an Athabasca University course.

The Undergraduate General Application, used to apply for admission, is separate from Undergraduate Course Registration used for registering in most Athabasca University courses.

1-credit courses

Ask
AU

The course administration and technology fee and Alumni Relations fee do not apply to 1-credit courses.

0-credit courses

Athabasca University offers a number of 0-credit courses (e.g., ENGL 140). Zero-credit courses are assessed the same fee structure as 3-credit courses minus the Students' Union Fees and Alumni Fees. Other academic-related fees and regulations also apply to 0-credit courses.

Audit course fees

Fees for audit courses are the same as their equivalent credit courses.

Re-registration fees

Re-registration fees include the tuition fee, the course administration and technology fee, the Students' Union and Alumni Relations fees only. If the course has been revised since your last registration, you are required to purchase a new course package. In this case, the course materials fee is added to your re-registration amount.

Credit card convenience charge

For more information on convenience charges, please visit the Financial Services website.

Indigenous student fees

The following fees are effective for courses starting between Sep. 1, 2026 and Aug. 31, 2027.

As part of AU's commitment to enhancing access and equity for indigenous learners, AU has implemented a 10% reduction in undergraduate tuition fees for Indigenous students. This 10% discount will be applied to the tuition portion of AU undergraduate course costs for courses starting on Sep. 1, 2025, and beyond. For more information, visit the Indigenous Student Support page.

Information effective Sep. 1, 2026 to Aug. 31, 2027.

Updated August 24, 2026 by Office of the Registrar

Canadian senior student fees

The following fees are effective for courses starting Sep. 1, 2026 to Aug. 31, 2027.

Canadian senior citizens

Canadian senior citizens (65 years of age or over) are offered a reduction in course registration fees. Seniors pay the full Course Administration and Technology Fee and Course Materials Fee portion of a registration but are given a reduction of one-half the tuition fee as reflected below.

Seniors are also given a reduction of one-half of the course extension fees; however, all other course and academic-related fees, including the one-time, non-refundable application fee and any service fees, must be paid in full.

The seniors' reduction does not apply to students living outside Canada or non-Canadian students living temporarily in Canada. Those students must refer to the regular fee categories.

ProctorU Fees

ProctorU Charges to Student for Invigilating an Exam

NOTE: ProctorU fees, like all external invigilator fees, are in addition to any Athabasca University fees (such as Supplemental Exam fees). Even though ProctorU provides the Take it Soon and Take it Now options, you must still follow the timelines required by AU to request your exam.

Athabasca University is not responsible for making any payments to ProctorU. Payment of all proctoring fees will be the obligation of the individual student. Any charges applicable to the student must be paid with a credit or debit card. The student will be required to enter payment information into a secure page connected to a third-party card processor. The page is encrypted and ProctorU does not see or store the credit cards data. Students will have to re-enter payment information each time new charges are incurred.

ProctorU determines exam length based on the maximum time allowed for writing an exam, as communicated by Athabasca University, not the time the student requires to actually complete the exam, which may be less.

Exam Length	Flex Scheduling	Take it Soon	Take it now
60 Minutes or Less	$16.21*	Flex Fee + $8.00*	Flex Fee + $12.00*

61-120 Minutes	$24.31*	Flex Fee + $8.00*	Flex Fee + $12.00*
121-180 Minutes	$31.26*	Flex Fee + $8.00*	Flex Fee + $12.00*
181 Minutes or More	$41.67*	Flex Fee + $8.00*	Flex Fee + $12.00*

*All fees are in US Funds.

Take it Soon and Take it Now fees are subject to change.

Optional Fees

To write an online exam AU has issued, flex scheduling allows a student to make an invigilation appointment at least 72 hours before the desired start time. However, at an additional cost, a student may choose the Take it Soon or Take it Now options. Take it Soon allows a test to be scheduled within 72 hours of the chosen start time; Take it Now allows a test to be taken on-demand with no appointment needed. These options are for the convenience of the examinee and are not required.

Information effective Sep. 1, 2026 to Aug. 31, 2027.

Updated August 24, 2026 by Office of the Registrar

Estimated program fees

The following course tuition fees are effective for students registering in courses from Sep. 1, 2026 to Aug. 31, 2027.

The following fees are all-inclusive and apply to all Athabasca University undergraduate program students. Before registration in courses, students must pay the one-time non-refundable General Application Fee. Please note: These costs are estimated. AU can and may increase tuition fees annually. Also, the program fees were determined by using 3-credit courses to find the program total. The program fee would be different if, for example, a 6-credit course is used in the program in place of two 3-credit courses. Other Academic-Related Fees, such as lab fees, examination fees, etc. are not included in these numbers.

120-credit program fees

The following all-inclusive fees apply to all Athabasca University program students enrolled in a 120-credit undergraduate program. Before registration in courses, students must pay the one-time non-refundable General Application Fee. Please note: These costs are estimated. AU can and may increase tuition fees annually. Also, the fees below were determined by using 3-credit courses to find the program total. The program fee would be different if, for example, a 6-credit course is used in the program in place of two 3-credit courses. Other Academic-Related Fees, such as lab fees, examination fees, etc. are not included in these numbers.

Challenge for credit fees

The following course tuition fees are effective for students registering with a start date of Sep. 1, 2026 to Aug. 31, 2027.

The challenge for credit process allows students to demonstrate that they have acquired a command of the general subject matter, knowledge, intellectual and/or other skills that would be found in an undergraduate course for which they are seeking credit.

Challenge for credit fees are non-refundable.

Before you consider registering in a challenge course, it is important that you read the Challenge for Credit section.

The following are tuition fees only. Students may purchase the required print course materials, limited to hard copy textbooks and print readings as follows:

1. by contacting AU's Learning Resource Services via email at cmat@athabascau.ca. All materials will be charged at full cost (defined as AU's full purchase cost, plus shipping, plus a 20 per cent handling fee) or;
2. by accessing the list of materials from the course syllabus and sourcing the materials via a book store, online book retailer, or other means.

Note: Students will not be provided access to the online individualized study course site, the student manual, eTextbooks, or course study guide in a Challenge for Credit registration. If an eTextbook is offered for the course, it must be purchased from the publisher or a third-party vendor.

Depending on where you live, allow approximately three weeks or more to receive your course materials package.

Students' Union and Alumni Relations fees

The following course tuition fees are effective for students registering in courses from Sep. 1, 2026 to Aug. 31, 2027.

The following mandatory fees are included in the total course registration fees and are displayed here for information purposes. These fees are not included as tuition for the T2202 tuition tax credit amount.

Alumni Relations fees are refunded by Athabasca University provided the student withdraws before or within 30 days of an individualized study course start date, or before or within 15 days of a grouped study course start date. There will be no refund issued after these dates.

Students' Union fees are only refundable if the student withdraws from the course before the course contract start date. There will be no refund issued after this date.

Refunds

If you formally withdraw from your individualized study course or your grouped study course, you must follow the regulations in the following sections that apply to you.

Individualized study course refund

Individualized study course tuition

The timing of a course withdrawal will impact eligibility for a refund of tuition.

Prior to the course contract start date: A refund of tuition and the course administration and technology fee, less the course withdrawal processing fee, may be granted if you formally withdraw from an individualized study course prior to the course contract start date and you are not involved in a disciplinary proceeding involving either academic or non-academic misconduct.

Within the first 30 days of the course contract: A refund of tuition and the course administration and technology fee, less the students' union fees and the course withdrawal processing fee, may be granted if you formally withdraw from an individualized study course from the course contract start date up to 30 days after, providing the course final exam has not been written (or if all coursework has been submitted for marking, if there is no final exam) and you are not involved in a disciplinary proceeding involving either academic or non-academic misconduct.

Exception: Normally, no refunds will be given at any point after registration for nursing practicum courses or health administration practicum courses

Individualized study course materials refund

A refund of the course materials fee will only be considered if you meet the course refund criteria and the University receives the course materials complete, unmarked, and undamaged within 30 days of your course withdrawal date. You will not receive a refund for course materials received by the University outside this time frame (late return).

Note: All returned course materials become the property of the University and will not be returned to you. Most AU courses include software, and/or software access codes. If the packaging around the software or the software access code has been opened you will not be eligible for a refund of the course materials fee. Once opened, the software cannot be re-issued and the material should not be returned.

eTextbooks

If the course materials for the course are only eTexts, the student does not need to do anything further than submitting their withdrawal request. The refund will be automatic if the withdrawal is received within the 30-day withdrawal period.

Individualized study refund procedure

Procedure for individualized study course tuition refund

Complete and submit the Course Withdrawal Request Form – online ↗. The date of withdrawal will be the date of the submission.

No tuition refunds are issued if you withdraw more than 30 days after your course contract start date.

Tuition refunds are processed within approximately 45 days of Athabasca University's receipt of the course withdrawal request. Your refund will be processed according to your method of payment, e.g., your credit card account will be credited, a cheque will be forwarded to your current mailing address, etc.

For information on how a withdrawal request impacts your academic record, please refer to Course procedures in the Registration section.

Procedure for course materials refund

To obtain a refund of the course materials fee, complete and submit the Course Withdrawal Request Form (Individualized Study) , along with the materials eligible to be issued to another student (e.g. returned complete and unmarked, including any unopened software packaging) to:

Athabasca University
Learning Resource Services
Tim Byrne Centre
4001 Highway 2 South
Athabasca, AB, Canada T9S 1A4
Fax no: 780-675.6174

Include your full name, address, and student identification number with any returned course materials. Your course materials refund will be processed according to your initial method of payment, e.g., your credit card account will be credited, a cheque will be forwarded to your current mailing address, etc. You are required to pay the postage on any returned materials.

Withdrawal Processing Fee

The withdrawal processing fee is a University-mandated, non-refundable fee used to cover the administration costs associated with providing course access and provisions, as well as assigning/shipping the course materials, if applicable. The withdrawal processing fee applies to all tuition fee refunds, regardless of when the student withdraws.

Grouped study course refund

Grouped study course tuition

The timing of a course withdrawal will impact eligibility for a refund of tuition.

Prior to the course contract start date: A refund of tuition and the course administration and technology fee, less the course withdrawal processing fee, may be granted if you formally withdraw from a grouped study course prior to the course contract start date and you are not involved in a disciplinary proceeding involving either academic or non-academic misconduct.

Within the first 15 days of the course contract: A refund of tuition and the course administration and technology fee, less the students' union fees and the course withdrawal processing fee, may be granted if you formally withdraw from a grouped study course from the course contract start date up to 15 days after, provided the course final exam has not been written (or if all coursework has been submitted for marking, if there is no final exam) and you are not involved in a disciplinary proceeding involving either academic or non-academic misconduct.

Grouped study refund procedures

Complete and submit the Course Withdrawal Request Form (Grouped Study)  to the designated area of the facility where the grouped study course is being offered, or scanned and emailed. The date of withdrawal will be the submission date.

Refunds are processed within approximately 45 days of AU's receipt of the grouped study course withdrawal request. Your refund will be processed according to your method of payment, e.g., your credit card account will be credited, a cheque will be forwarded to your current mailing address, etc.

For information on withdrawing from a grouped study course, and the Credit balance

Credit balance refund

Credit balances on your account, except for students who receive financial assistance from the Alberta Student Finance Board (or another provincial program), will be refunded to you or credited to your sponsor, whichever is applicable.

Information effective Sep. 1, 2026 to Aug. 31, 2027.

Updated June 08, 2026 by Office of the Registrar

Delinquent accounts

Students with delinquent accounts will have their registration cancelled. A cancelled registration shall constitute withdrawal from all courses and forfeiture of all fees paid to date. Accounts that remain unsettled 25 days after the date Financial Services issues you a written notice are considered delinquent.

If your account is in arrears, you will not receive Athabasca University services, including, but not limited to: examination results, transcripts or records of academic standing, Letters of Permission, evaluation, graduation, library borrowing privileges, online computing access, or subsequent registrations until your accounts have been settled.

This policy encompasses all financial obligations due Athabasca University, including those attributable to fees and deposits; non-return of equipment, material, or library books; failure to follow formal withdrawal or cancellation procedures; and any dishonoured cheques returned by the bank.

A returned cheque charge of $30 will be assessed on dishonoured (NSF, payment stopped, account closed, etc.) cheques.

Information effective Sep. 1, 2026 to Aug. 31, 2027.

Receipts and T2202

When a student registers in a course, they are issued a confirmation letter that indicates, among other details, the student fees paid. See the following section for more information.

Students may be eligible for the Tuition, Education, and Textbook Amounts Certificate tax credit for each month of part-time or full-time registration. The section below gives information on retrieving your T2202 form, if eligible.

Receipts

When you register in a course, you are issued a confirmation letter that indicates, among other details, the student fees paid. Receipts for payment of fees are not issued unless requested.

If you require a receipt for reimbursement purposes by an employer, or for fees other than those listed in the confirmation letter, you must submit a separate request when you register or contact Accounts Receivable. In February each year, receipts for income tax credit purposes are issued.

Form T2202 (Tuition and Education Tax Credit)

In Canada, you may be able to reduce income tax payable by claiming tax credits for enrolment in and payment of tuition and academic fees for Athabasca University's credit courses. At the end of February, the official Tuition, Education, and Textbook Amounts Certificate (form T2202) will be available to all eligible students in printable format on Athabasca University's website at myAU  portal.

To be eligible for the tax credit, the total of such fees paid to an educational institution in Canada for the year must exceed $100. Fees paid to the Students' Union and Alumni Relations are not eligible for inclusion in the tuition tax credit.

Ask

The calendar year for which the fees are paid, not the date on which the fees are paid, is used to calculate eligible tuition fees. Tuition fees paid for courses that extend beyond the calendar year-end will be pro-rated on the T2202 according to the period of course delivery pertaining to each calendar year. For example, if a course has an October 1 start date and a March 31 contract end date, only 50 per cent of the tuition fee representing the October through December period will be reflected in the current year tax credit certificate. The remaining 50 per cent, representing January through March, will be reflected on the following year's T2202.

You may be eligible for the Tuition, Education, and Textbook Amounts Certificate tax credit for each month of part-time or full-time registration. For income tax purposes, a full-time student is defined as a person actively registered in a minimum of two credits per month.

Only the initial contract period is taken into consideration in the calculation of student status as reported on your Tuition, Education, and Textbook Amounts Certificate (Form T2202). Extensions are not considered in this calculation.

The Tuition, Education, and Textbook Amounts Certificate reflects the number of months of enrolment that are eligible to be considered as part time or full time. Further details concerning the Tuition, Education, and Textbook Amounts Certificate may be found in Canada Customs and Revenue Agency's \(CCRA\) Personal Income Tax Guide or by contacting a CCRA district taxation office.

Information effective Sep. 1, 2026 to Aug. 31, 2027.

Full payment must accompany application forms, regardless of the registration method used. Requests with insufficient fees can't be processed until full payment is received.

1. Online payment

When you become a student or register for a course online through myAU, you can pay by debit card (Visa debit or MasterCard debit) or by credit card (MasterCard, Visa). Visit the Financial Services website for more information about the credit card convenience charge.

2. Credit Card

Please call 1-800-788-9041 and ask for Enrolment Services, to indicate that you wish to pay by credit card. You will receive a separate email notification from Athabasca University with a link to provide online credit card payment for this fee. This is a secure server, and you can pay using a Visa or Mastercard.

3. E-transfer (requires manual submission of printable application)

When you register using printable forms, you can now pay by e-transfer directly to Athabasca University.

Step 1: email your printable form to enrol@athabascau.ca

Step 2: e-transfer funds to Athabasca University. This can be done by sending the e-transfer to finar@athabascau.ca with the following information in the message field:

- Your unique 7-digit Athabasca University student ID number (if a current student)
- Your full name (required in the event the e-transfer is coming from someone other than yourself, or if you have not yet completed your General Application form)
- Type of fee you are paying for (course fee, application fee, etc.)
- Course name and number you are paying for (if applicable)

- Email address and phone number (to contact you if necessary)

If you have questions, email finar@athabascau.ca for assistance.

4. Cheque or money order

If you wish to pay by cheque or money order, you must submit your application or course registration by mail. Returning students, please write your Student ID number on the cheque.

Other fees

G.S.T.

The federal government's current guidelines exempt academic-related fees from the Goods and Services Tax (G.S.T.). G.S.T. is added to all other goods and services; for example, workshops, some publications, self-help seminars, and Athabasca University promotional sales items.

Financial assistance

The following course tuition fees are effective for students registering in courses from Sep. 1, 2026 to Aug. 31, 2027.

Financial assistance may be available to part-time and full-time students from their Provincial financial aid agency. Full- and part-time students may be eligible for loans, grants and bursaries. The amount of loan or bursary varies according to need. For financial aid purposes, full-time status is a minimum of 60 per cent of a full course load over a four month semester. Athabasca University's Financial Aid Advisors should be consulted for clarification regarding full- or part-time status.

The regular course contract dates of 6 and 12 months are reduced to 4 and 8 months for full-time AU students receiving financial aid. The regular 6- and 12-month contract dates apply to full-time students at other institutions who are taking only 1 or 2 courses with AU. All course start dates per semester must be the same. The regulations on course load, course completion requirements and eligibility conditions for the various Provincial Government Agencies are subject to change.

The regulations for funding require that academic progress be monitored. Students with student loans must also consider the minimum course requirements of their loan programs. Typically, this requires a minimum of three, 3-credit courses per 4-month funding period in order to maintain your full-time loan status.

How to apply

Contact your local provincial financial aid agency to obtain information on the application process. Before the financial aid application is completed, you must contact AU and a Financial Aid Advisor will provide you with important information and assistance with the process. This includes the completion of the Loan Study Plan.

You must apply for funding at least four months before your anticipated course start date. Requested dates for funding periods cannot be changed without reassessment of the loan certificate by the particular student financial aid agency.
