The Long Ride Home is about years of Inter-generational trauma that caused an over representation of Indigenous children in care causing further trauma and leading to dangerous coping methods and often death.

A brave group of Indigenous people leave on a nomadic horseback journey that is 600 kms long. Powered only by their Spirit and tradition they attempt to spark change, bring awareness of the Missing Indigenous women, 60s Scoop survivors and bring their children home.

This is part of our Bannock and & Movie series
